

4 L&D Leader Skills for Future

With learning being more pertinent than ever, L&D professionals need to arm themselves with skills that will help them build workplaces of the future, in the post-pandemic world.

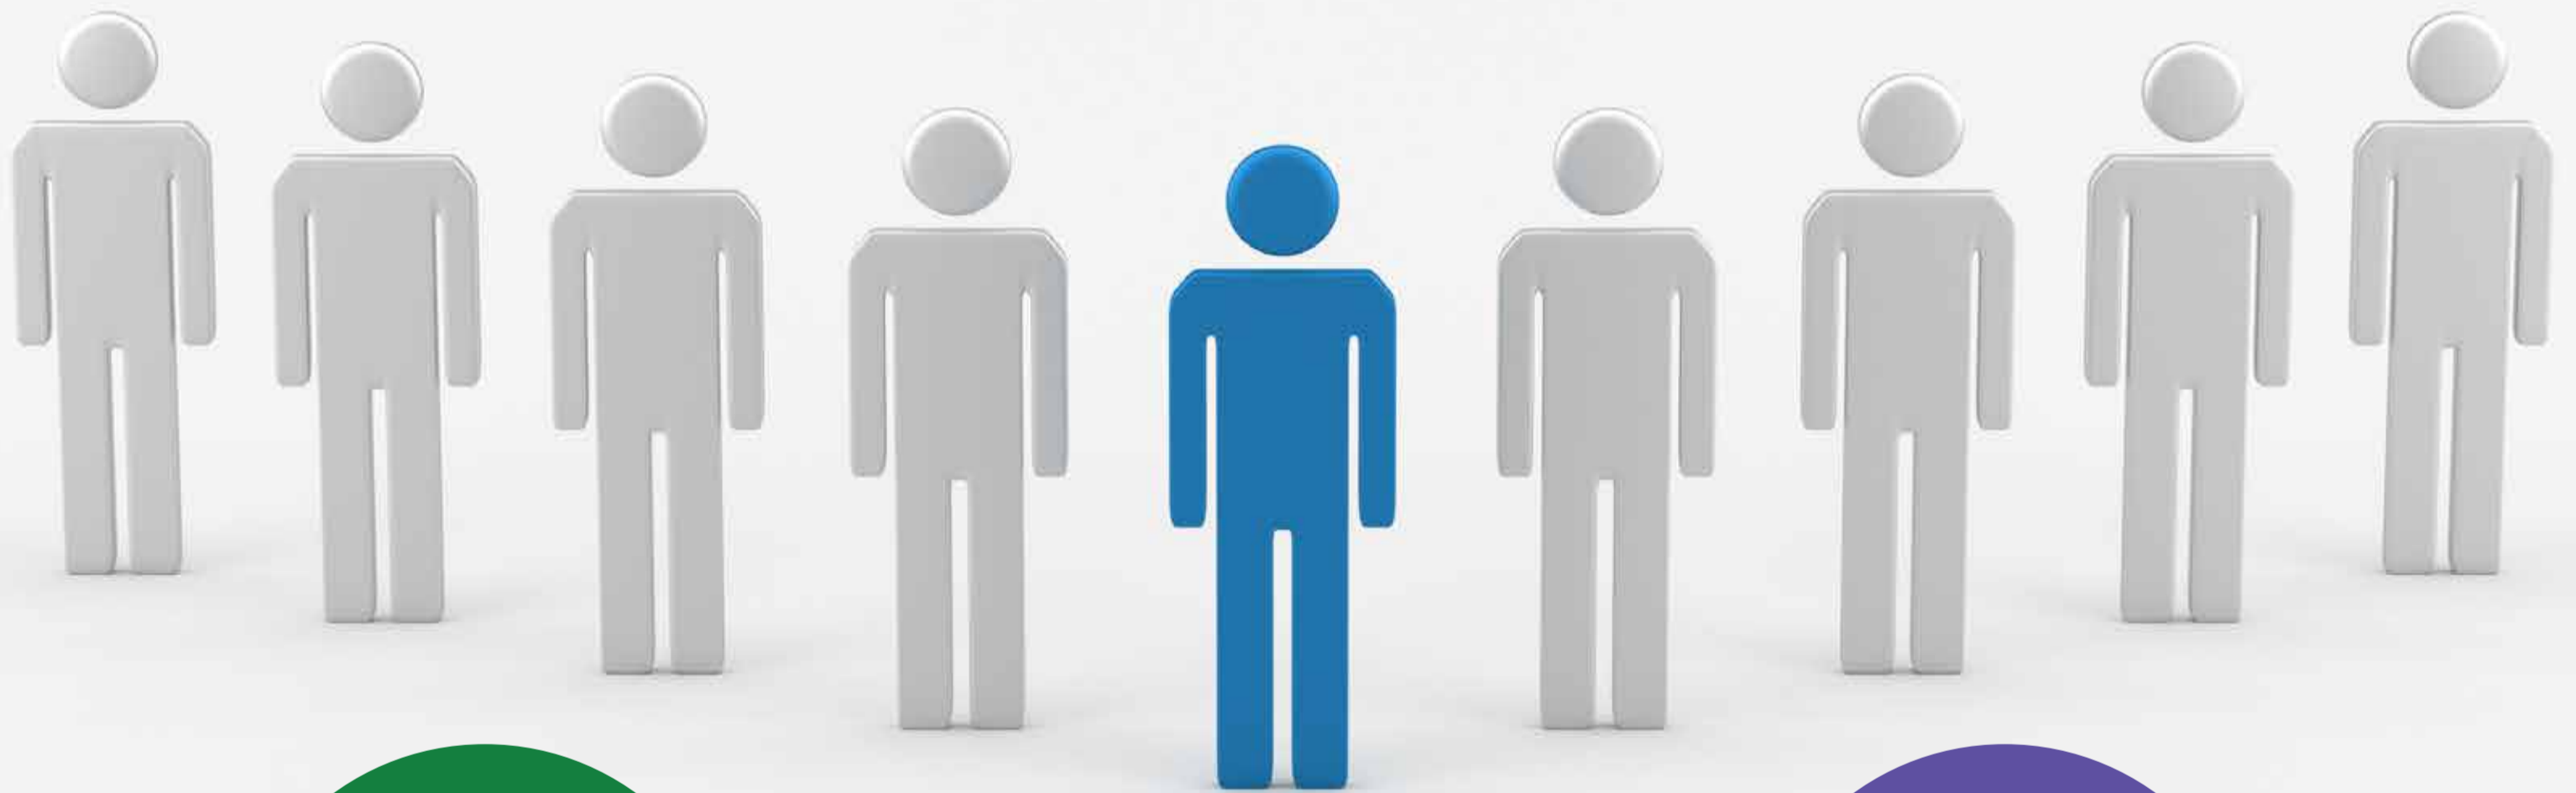

Consulting

- Challenge all incoming requests by asking the right questions
- Understand the context of the business to align L&D KPIs with business KPIs

Curation

- Ongoing upskilling and reskilling are central to today's organization
- Don't create but curate - extract the best and repurpose

Personalization

- Setup an ecosystem that can deliver customized learning plans
- Be employee-centric and focus on learning

Leveraging Technology

- Be technology savvy and keep a tab on emerging trends
- Embrace new technologies rapidly

Harbinger Interactive Learning is a leading provider of award-winning custom learning solutions. We help you to empower your employees with an optimum learning strategy and engaging learning content.